Plans Underway For New Library

by Mary Louise Williamson

Greenbelters will have a modernistic new library according to the architect's exterior rendering which has been generally accepted by the County Library Board, according to Miss Elizabeth Hage, Director of the County Library system. The county library staff is now working out details of the interior layout with architects Walton and Madden (who also designed the municipal building).

The architect's drawing is currently on display at the Hyattsville Regional Library as part of a pictorial history of the county library.

The new building will be located on a corner of the Center School property (owned by the Board of Education) bounded by Crescent Rd. and backing on the ravine below Lakeside Drive. The building front, entering on the upper level, will face the Municipal Building, across the Center School green. Rear entrance will be on the lower level facing the ravine, near the Westway underpass. Parking will be provided to the side of the building away from Crescent Rd.

A 2.3 million dollar bond issue passed the Maryland State Legislature authorizing construction of several new libraries. Greenbelt's new library, expected to house 150,000 volumes, will be about the size of the Regional Library minus the county administrative offices.

"The Library," says Miss Hage, "will have all the usuals - a children's room, adult reading and reference rooms, young adult area, and offices upstairs. On the lower level will be a meeting room, conference rooms, book storage and mechanical equipment rooms."

Miss Hage did not want to hazard a guess as to when construction might start, "we're on the second go around of discussions with the architects," she said, but admitted two or three more sessions might be required before arriving at final plans.

CHARTER AMENDMENTS APPROVED SWIMMING POOL FEES UNCHANGED

by Al Skolnik

At its Tuesday, April 19, meeting called to complete the agenda left unfinished from the night before, the city council decided to continue the same swimming pool rates that were in effect for 1965. While pool revenues during the last fiscal year did not meet estimates, city manager James K. Giese felt that the present rates should be given another year of trial since last year's experience was affected by the delayed opening of the pool.

The family resident rate for a season pass is $25; for a non-resident family, the rate is $45. The single resident rate is $15; for a non-resident single person, $25. Guest group tickets will also be on sale. The non-resident and guest tickets are limited to persons who are bona fide guests of Greenbelt residents.

Charter Changes

The council approved 3 non-controversial amendments to the City Charter. They go into effect automatically unless 20 percent of the registered voters petition within 40 days for a referendum.

The amendments deal with city elections. One provides that eligibility to vote will be liberalized to require only six months residency in the State of Maryland (and Greenbelt), rather than one year in the State as at present. Another provides that notice of election will be published at least 10 days before the election. Presently no notice is required. The third is a technical change which clarifies the deadline date for registration preceding an election, and other registration procedures.

One charter change proposed by the Charter Review Committee was turned down by Council on the preceding evening. This involved eliminating from the charter the section pertaining to the city's Advisory Planning Board. The Committee had felt that Advisory Boards in general should not be made a part of the Charter, as regular ordinances can be used to establish and provide for the functioning of such bodies.

The APB, however, in a strongly-worded report (#57), argued that the change would undermine the independent position of the APB, since a simple ordinance could abolish the APB.

Introduced for first reading was a series of four other charter changes recommended by the Charter Review Committee. These will be discussed at next meeting of council.

One would clarify the present procedure in the charter for dismissal of a city manager by the city council and permit the manager to request a private hearing before the council as well as a public hearing. A second resolution concerns the prosecution of a misdemeanor arising from the interference of a councilman in the appointment or removal of city employees. Such prosecution is the responsibility of the State Attorney's Office and therefore the present section requiring the city solicitor to prosecute such actions is not needed.

A third change calls for the elimination of a paragraph relating to such duties of the city manager as keeping records. The Charter Review Committee felt that such matters can be provided by ordinance and by administrative regulations. A final change involves deletion of duplicative sections which relate to purchasing procedures.

Voter Registration

On the preceding night, council turned down a request by Springhill Lake management and residents for a special registration for city voters on May 14, in conjunction with county voter registration. The council felt that such a registration 18 months before the next city election was unnecessary and would create difficulties such as keeping registration lists current because of turnover. It promised special registration days on Saturdays and evenings, at Springhill Lake apartments next year.

The council moved to urge Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to adopt a policy resolution indicating that it will maintain all storm sewers presently maintained by the city. At present, the city is subject to a WSSC tax for this purpose, but the law makes it possible for WSSC to refuse to maintain storm sewer systems within municipalities which are substandard.

Tid-Bits

The city is awaiting replies from its offers for purchase of parkland around the lake authorized by the electorate at the last election. . . . The council went on record favoring municipal sharing of revenue from 1-percent local income tax, if county commissioners decide to levy such tax. . . . The council voted to accept portions of Edmonston Road in Springhill Lake into the city-road system. . . . A city letter to the county building inspector, supporting his efforts to eliminate safety hazards at Beltway Plaza caused by eroding embankment, will be sent.

GHI Budget Balanced In 1965; Income Higher

by Al Skolnik

Greenbelt Homes, Inc., income and expenditures just about balanced out for 1965, according to the end-of-year financial statement prepared by GHI comptroller Don McGinn. A net gain of less than two-tenths of 1 percent of income ($1,736) was reported from current operations.

This was much better, however, than the previous year's experience when a deficit of $40,250 was reported. Even when the 1965 figures are expanded to include the unpaid tax bill due for 1964 real estate reassessment, the final balance for 1965 is more favorable than that of 1964.

The 1965 results are also better than those anticipated by the 1965 budget which expected a $15,000 deficit, to be made up from contingency reserves.

Income Up

Contributing to these results was a 4-percent hike in monthly charges voted at the beginning of 1965. This increase brought in additional revenue of $56,000. Income from other sources also rose—by about $24,000—to bring total income for 1965 to $1,189,700 or about $80,000 more than in 1964. These income figures exclude interest and principal payments by members.

Net expenditures also rose in 1965, but by the smaller amount of $37,000 to a total of $1,187,900. Mainly accounting for the increase were combined county and city real estate taxes ($39,300 greater), administration and sales ($5,400 greater) and waste collection charges ($3,600 greater).

The total real estate tax figure for 1965 was $265,700 compared with $226,400 for 1964, and reflected the higher county tax rate and the effect of the reassessment of GHI properties. The higher administration and sales expenditures reflect mainly higher payroll costs arising from pay raises and higher fringe benefit costs. Waste collection costs rose as the city hike in fees was felt for an entire year.

Another item of interest that went up was the corporation's share of zoning and planning consultant costs (from $2,900 to $4,100). A one-time expenditure of $334 for an aerial photo is also included.

Offsetting Expenditures

Offsetting these increases to some extent was a drop of $11,900 in repairs and maintenance costs in 1965, and a drop of $4,000 in water costs. The drop in maintenance costs is mainly attributable to lower payroll costs arising out of difficulties in filling vacancies and to lower amounts expended for the exterior trim paint program and the replacement of heat and water

Foundation to Recognize Outstanding Citizens

The city council has approved the establishment of a Greenbelt Foundation for the Recognition of Outstanding Citizens of the Community. This non-profit Foundation was set up in recognition of the late Reverend Hull and the Reverend Strausberg.

The council will appoint a 9-man board of trustees serving staggered 3-year terms to administer the Foundation. No reappointments will be permitted and trustees will serve without compensation.

The Foundation will honor those citizens who have made an extraordinary contribution to the life of the community and who deserve special recognition and appreciation by the community. It is authorized to raise funds for this purpose and to satisfy unmet needs of the community.

The Foundation is organized to operate independently of the city of Greenbelt.

FIRE DEPT. NEEDS MEN
To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad is in dire need of new ACTIVE SENIOR MEMBERS. Our territory is expanding, due to the new housing developments that are springing up in our area.

Our list of active members has continued to grow shorter without a corresponding increase of new members. We have hired a full-time fireman to help during the daylight hours, but this is not the total answer to our problem.

If YOU are interested, over 18 years of age, reside in Greenbelt, and in reasonably good health, WE WANT YOU. We will provide free training, and the opportunity to learn the Firefighting and Rescue trades.

Come down to the firehouse, ask any member, or call 474-5511.

Flowers — and Litter!
To the Editor:

Spring is bustin' out all over! Apple blossoms, daffodils, lilacs and violets are blooming. The fresh smell of new-mown grass fills the air. That is the nice side of Spring here in Greenbelt. On the other side we see papers, broken glass and general rubbish that people thoughtlessly leave strewn about their yards, etc. The papers from their upkept yards blow all over the neighborhood.

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt would like to suggest that we all join the Beautification Campaign and keep our yards and streets neat so that we may point to them with pride—not shame!

Other items showed differences of less than $1,000 from the year before. The major item here was heating which amounted to $353, 400 in 1965, only $500 more than in 1964. Higher payroll costs were offset by smaller amounts expended for materials.

On the income side, a major item contributing to the higher figure was $13,000 obtained as dividends from Greenbelt Development Corporation, the GHI-owned subsidiary operating the Parkway apartments. $5,000 of this was a 1964 dividend, payment of which was delayed until 1965.

OOPS - WRONG KEY!

A scientist visiting Goddard Space Flight Center last week had a somewhat disconcerting experience. As he was getting ready to drive back to the airport (in a rented car) to board a flight back home to California, he discovered that he had forgotten to return the key of his motel room.

The key, as usual, carried a mailing tag requesting anyone who inadvertently had carried it off to send it back by dropping it into the nearest mailbox. The scientist hurried to one of the mailboxes provided at the space flight center and it was only after he heard the keys drop inside the box that he realized that the motel key was still with him. The key which he had deposited belonged to his car.

A phone call to the Greenbelt Post Office found the mail service willing to help. A car was dispatched from Goddard, a postal employee unlocked the box, the key was retrieved and the scientist made it to the airport on time.
